

BDA Liability Disclaimer

1. The Organizing Committee shall not be held liable for any errors or misrepresentations in promotional, printed, or exhibition materials that result from inaccurate or incorrect information submitted by the participant.
2. The Organizing Committee shall not be responsible for any disputes or conflicts involving participants, winners, or third parties arising from participation in the Better Design Award.
3. The Organizing Committee shall not be liable for accidental damage to works caused by their inherent characteristics, including but not limited to fragility, susceptibility to scratches, paint peeling, corrosion, or complex structures.
4. The external packaging of all entries is excluded from the Committee's safekeeping responsibilities. The Committee assumes no responsibility for damage or loss of any external packaging.
5. For entries without properly submitted "Shipping Information" in the official system, the Committee assumes no responsibility for safekeeping. The Committee shall not be liable for any loss or damage occurring during shipping or return transit.
6. In accordance with Section VI, Clause 4 of the BDA Participation Guidelines, the Organizing Committee shall not be held liable for any loss or damage to entries during the processes of review, exhibition, transportation, or storage.

7. The Organizing Committee shall not be responsible for any damage caused during the installation, disassembly, or debugging of works, even if such actions are carried out by or assisted by the Committee.
8. The Organizing Committee shall not be liable for any loss or damage to works resulting from force majeure events, including but not limited to natural disasters, war, or changes in national policy.
9. By submitting an entry, the participant is deemed to have agreed to all terms above. The Organizing Committee reserves the final right of interpretation and adjudication.
